

In memory of Azucena Saavedra Pérez

Azucena Saavedra was an inspiration in the production department of Elsevier journals, where she worked since 2003. Azucena died suddenly on the 28th of December 2022, aged 44 years old. Those of us who were lucky enough to know her and work alongside her know that she had great skill and talent: she was meticulous and thorough in her work, friendly, upstanding, admired, a part of the team, and above all she was highly professional. Her laugh, contagious if you ever heard it, will stay with us forever, like a timeless echo of her involvement in all the Elsevier España journals she worked on as Journal Manager. Known as Azu by those close to her, her contributions, providing skilled assistance on the editorial side, ensured Spanish and Latin American research was shared with the world in the form of scientific articles. We, her colleagues, would like to pay tribute to her. We miss you, Azu.
