

Members of the “Expert Committee” that reviewed articles during 2006

We would hereby like to thank experts listed below for the independent, rigorous and unbiased work they did to evaluate the papers submitted to our journal during 2006. We trust we have not left anybody out, but if that is the case we ask them to accept our apologies in advance. We also ask for the understanding of those authors whose papers were not accepted for publication. The Journal's Editorial Board takes full responsibility for the errors that may have been committed during the assessment process.
